Recording Equipment

A combination of analogue and digital recording. Our “old school” application combined with our technological dexterity gives whatever project we are working on the highest chance of success. We specialise in developing a band’s “sound” and “releasing” songs through creative vision and a close working relationship with our artists.

Midi application and composition is being used more and more in everyday life. From major top-selling tracks on the radio, to television advertisement score music, it gives any promising composers a complete orchestra or band at their fingertips to do as they please.
